2. Business Responsibility

The business using Business Development Agent remains responsible for:

- Reviewing generated quotes.
 - Confirming pricing.
 - Verifying project scope.
 - Communicating final terms to customers.
 - Ensuring service policies are accurate.
 - Honoring applicable laws and business obligations.

3. Customer Responsibility

Customers should understand that quote results may change after inspection, measurement, review, or additional project details.

Customers should confirm final pricing directly with the business before approving work.

4. Accuracy Limitations

AI-generated outputs may contain errors, omissions, incorrect assumptions, or incomplete information.

Business Development Agent does not guarantee that every quote, response, price range, or recommendation is accurate or complete.

5. Confidence Scores

If the platform displays a confidence score, that score is informational only. It should not be treated as a guarantee of accuracy, profitability, or final price certainty.

6. Human Review Recommended

Business Development Agent is intended to support business operations, not replace business judgment. Businesses should review important quotes, unusual customer requests, high-value jobs, and low-confidence estimates before relying on them.
